Residents from from several lakefront communities including Pucketts Ferry, Crystal Bay, Harborside, Grand Harbor, Stoney Point, Eagles Harbor, Ridgewood Harbor and Waterloo will meet 7 p.m. Tuesday at the "The Depot" on Main Street in Ninety Six to share their concerns about the quality of Lake Greenwood's water.

Julie Davis, of Greenwood County Lake Management, Lisa Wicklyffe Augustine, of Upstate Forever in Greenville, and DHEC representative Rebecca Spratlin will address water quality issues on Lake Greenwood and each will answer questions.

Sen. Floyd Nicholson and state Rep.s Mike Pitts and Jeff Duncan will attend. Greenwood County Councilman Patrick Moody will also be at this meeting, and several county councilmen from Laurens and Greenwood counties have been invited.
